Preconstruction Services

Every construction project is unique. In the construction industry “the prototype” must be right the first time. During the pre-construction stage, there is a unique opportunity to establish criteria for high quality and to identify potential savings. The costly decisions are usually made at the planning and design stage and not during construction. We seek to help determine the best solution for every project, every client, in every location.

Owner's Representative

Often times, our clients find themselves in situations where the project schedules put a lot of pressure internally without having the required resources. We seek to protect the interests of our client, and we work to ensure that the project is carried out according to the budget and schedule and quality. We are able to identify, pre-qualify and monitor local general contractors, professionals and help form a good project team in Canada the Caribbean and Latin America.

Our goal is to help create a project team that will execute a final product of better quality whatever the project or the place; leaving behind us tangible results.
